Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton

Summer 1875.

By G.O.E. MAB-RE (Little Child).

Gradually some other clerks came in en route to their different appointments. H. B. Round, an Englishman for Peace River, Scott Simpson for British Columbia, Count Von Brück (H. von Brück his correct name according to Isaac Cowie), an ex-Dragoon officer from Prussia who had got into trouble with Von Bismarck and was therefore suffering semi-exile. Fort Qu'Appelle was to be our starting point and there we all went, a brother of Mr. McDonald, leader of the party. Mr. Chief Trader, Ewen McDonald, was bound for Isle la Crosse, he having his family with him. Our chief guide was a young French half-breed named Homme. A splendid rider and an experienced plainsman. We had travelled together the previous winter and were chummy. Our first night out from Ellis we only made some ten miles and just about dark Mr. and Jeanne Homme sneaked out of camp, caught and saddled our ponies, and rode back to the fort, where our dogs had been chained up to the pickets. Cautiously entering by a side gate I soon had them loose with the aid of a new file, but had hard work checking their trail towards the pickets. Next day Mr. Ewen remarked in a dry manner, "So your dogs followed after all" and I innocently agreed to this.

Our trip to Qu'Appelle was uneventful, but my surprise was caused on reaching there to note the beautiful valley and rolling hills. I reported only a day or two ride to the southwest. Mr. MacLean was in charge, better known in later years as Fort Pitt MacLean, for in 1885 he and his family surrendered themselves to Big Bear's band. A Mr. McKinnon joined us here, fresh from the mountains and ordered to Peace River. The days passed busily as a large brigade of loaded carts were being sent to Carlton under our escort.

The valley was a stirring place, and it was a fascinating study for me to watch the Indian bands and note the dancing, gambling and love-making which went on merrily. Little Fox, second war chief of the Crees, was here, and really the most interesting looking man I ever saw. Eagle featured, over six feet in height, he was splendidly mounted on a handsome barrel horse which looked like a lion's cub. A Henry rifle across his saddle bow, a splendid bow strengthened with the back with buffalo sinew, a silver full of iron pointed and feathered arrows over his shoulder, dressed from head to foot in buckskin clothing ornamented with porcupine quills, he truly looked the ideal warrior of one of Fenimore Cooper's novels. I gazed at him with admiration and walking up to him and shook out my hand. He looked down, smiled at the little clerk and gave me two fingers for a salute. In a short time it was said the Crees could put seven thousand fighting men in the field. What a contrast to last year, when there are only a few broken remnants of the tribe left.

Mrs. Lloyd George on Electioneering Campaign

Says Bolshevism Is Destroying

Chartered British Institutions.

London.—An echo of the Prime Minister's famous speech accusing British Labor leaders of revolutionary designs was heard at Bolton, where Mrs. Lloyd George who is speaking in the interests of the new postmaster-general in the Bedford by-election said:

"We have beaten Prussia; we must now prepare to beat Russia. The disciples of Lenin and Trotsky are among us, bent on destroying our cherished institutions and bringing destruction upon the nation."

How, asked Kellaway, the postmaster-general, is opposed by E. R. Mayer, secretary of the Postal Workers' Union.

Hatfield Is Banqueted

Professional Rummaker Feared On

His Arrival at Medicine Hat.

Medicine Hat.—Rummaker Hatfield, on his arrival here from Calgary, was banqueted by the Southern Agricultural Association.

One of Medicine Hat's prominent business and professional men, Mr. Rummaker, who was skilled in boxing, counter, challenged him with the gloves. This he accepted and was knocked out by Mr. McDonald.

Mr. McDonald, much to her and the children's amusement and my own mortification. However, before we reached Fort Carlton she was tame enough.

Sunday came and a rest day was called. Count Von Brück electrified us all by appearing in full dress with a top hat and was paying attention to a young woman who was with Mrs. McDonald. Needless to say the girl was not last long and was promptly made a fool of and in consequence we considered individually and collectively to a duel with each other, swords or pistols, he having both with him, and very handsome weapons.

McDonald naturally refused, but Rummaker was skilled in boxing, counter, challenged him with the gloves. This he accepted and was knocked out by Mr. McDonald.

Ottawa.—The Dominion Government has not abandoned the idea of appointing a Canadian minister to Washington, Premier Meighen was definite on this speaking in the House of Commons. "It is intended to make the appointment," he declared. "There is one reason and one only why the appointment has not already been made," he added "and that is that the Government has not been able to decide on the best man to occupy this important post."

Delays and action on a vote of $60,000 for "Canadian representation in the United States." Speaking on it, Sir Robert Borden, former premier, urged that the greatest benefits would result from the appointment of a Canadian minister at Washington.

"The appointment is in the best interests of Canada and the Empire," he said. "Hon. N. W. Rowell, former member of the Privy Council. "If we agree on the best terms with our neighbor, we must be in constant touch with them and understand their frame of mind."

Criticism and approval came from both sides of the House. From the Government ranks, W. F. Cockshutt (Brandon) thought the step an advance one to take. Conflict between the British ambassador and the Canadian minister would cause sooner or later.

From the Liberal side, Hon. W. S. Fielding, who was one of the Canadian signatories of the reciprocity agreement—argued that the appointment would not be a useful one.

On the other hand, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, thought it would be the abolition of the Canadian minister to the British embassy. Differences of opinion might arise, but it would be well to avoid misunderstanding.

"Canadian interests," observed Hon. A. C. Gair, leader of the National Progressives, "could be better looked after by having a Canadian minister on the ground."

The debate, which began in the early afternoon, wore on till after midnight. Liberals pressed for production of correspondence.

Dr. J. A. Macdonald, who made the appointment within the present fiscal year," asked Hon. R. Lemieux.

"It is not only the intention but the desire," he said, "to make the appointment as soon as possible."

The Splendid Services Of the Press to Agricultural Development

In an address at the Agricultural Conference held recently at Saskatoon, W. A. McLeod, Editor of Publications for the Saskatchewan Government, said in part:

"The press, as usual, has the last word. Having the last word I can speak dogmatically. The services the press has rendered agriculture—and I include in this the daily, weekly and agricultural press—are so great and cover such a wide field that were I now a genuine newspaper man, it would be too much like leaving were I to enumerate them. I hold the same relation to journalism today which many of you here do to farming, for I edit a serious, dignified government publication which does not have to depend on the number of its subscribers or its advertising patronage, to make a living for the editor."

"The press, in serving agriculture, has rendered a great service to you men who are also serving the country in the same field and the highest of all, the field of education. The profession best representing agriculture is the technical agriculturist, who was popularly, or rather unpopularly known a few years ago as a 'book farmer'."

"I grant you that a general advance has been made along the line, but I maintain that it was the press more than any other agency that killed the bogey of the 'book farmer' and ensures him a respectful hearing today."

"Therefore he has any message of importance to give the public, and today he can tell the story in a way that the success of 'Better Farming' has, agricultural short courses, and the increasing knowledge and appreciation of the valuable work done at our Agricultural Colleges and experimental farms is in a large measure due to the publicity given them by the press."

"Roydard Kipling tells of a tribe in the very early history of our race, which had just fought a battle with a rival tribe and had come off victorious chiefly through the prowess of one warrior who had performed prodigies of valor, and they had held a feast to celebrate the victory—the bodies of the slain probably furnishing a substantial portion of the banquet—and the chief was called upon to make a speech, he broke down ignominiously after a few stammering words."

"The warrior, who had not been in the fight at all but had been at the movies or fishing on the day of the battle, and he described the whole affair, the triumph of his tribe and the slaughter and rout of the enemy, until all the members of the tribe were in transports, completely carried away by the eloquence of that dinner-speaker, and howling their battle cries as the scenes of the combat were vividly presented to their imaginations."

"After they had cooled down a little the elders of the tribe held a conference and decided that the chief was lying, and he was promptly knuckled on the head. They found him guilty of possessing 'the magic of the necessary word,' and they said that it would be a great menace to the welfare of the tribe if men with this extraordinary gift were permitted to use their imaginations and passions of men at will."

"Now it is this 'magic of the necessary word' which the editor must possess if he is to be a successful editor. But we have greatly improved on this primitive methods of our ancestors in this field. We have made our editors safe by making them editors. There is no need for knocking the editor on the head for fear he is about to tell the mysterious power to exalt himself, as we keep him so busy booting for his town, his province, his party, the prospects for the future, 'Better Farming' and 'Back to the Land' movements, that he has no time nor opportunity to boast for himself. Once in a while an editor breaks loose and becomes a millionaire, a lord, or a president of the United States, but these are rare exceptions to the general rule. The face of the average editor is far oftener that of the poor wretch told about in the Bible."

"There was a little city and great men within it; and there came a famine there; and it beggared it, and built great graves against it."

"Now there was found in it a poor wretch man and he by his wisdom delivered the city; yet no one remembered the same poor man."

"To visualize the services which the press is rendering to agriculture, try and imagine this province for one whole year without one newspaper, daily, weekly or agricultural. There is no calamity of drought, hail, rust, or grasshoppers which would so seriously affect the welfare of the farmers of the province, and therefore of every person living in the province, as the loss of the press without any authentic news of what was happening in the province or the outside world. Wild rumors, magnified a hundred-fold by passing from mouth to mouth, would make life in our cities and towns most miserable. Life in the country would be impossible. Omit from our daily and weekly papers every reference to agriculture, and you could not deal a heavier blow to progressive agriculture."

May Withhold Help From Austria

Allies Will Abandon Efforts If Austria Unites With Germany.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The French minister to that country, if the government is unable to render inefficacious plans for the union of Austria and Germany, France will suspend any contemplated assistance to Austria, it is said in a message received in Paris from Vienna.

In addition, the minister is said to have declared that in such a case the allied reparations commission would receive restored Austria as a neutral country.

The British and Italian ministers are declared to have associated themselves in this declaration, and was added that the withdrawal of France from any movement for giving aid to Austria would mean a complete withdrawal of efforts to assist that country on the part of the allies.

Farm Products From West

In 1920 Saskatchewan Exported 1,634,400 Dozen of Eggs.

In the years 1908 and 1909 Saskatchewan had no eggs to sell outside the province. It was not until 1910 that import fairly large shipments. In 1920 Saskatchewan exported to Eastern Canada, United States and other points 1,634,400 dozen of eggs—about 100 carloads.

During the year 1920 the Moose Jaw district exported to the United States, Great Britain, the United States, eggs, poultry and butter to the value of nearly $700,000.

Backed By Public Sentiment

If British statesmen do not yet understand what to the French is an accepted axiom, that the only demand which affects the German in the least is the argument of force, it is none the less the fact that the British people understand it. The German government would do well to appreciate what is the fact, that all the public discussion concerning what Germany can pay, ought to pay, or ought not to pay, is asked to pay, does not in the least represent the opinion of the great majority of the people—London Morning Post.

Livestock Losses in Europe During War Time

All Classes of Animals Slowly Decreases Compared With Pre-War Totals.

In the "Agricultural Gazette," the official organ of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Mr. T. K. Polakoff, L.L.B., has a well presented statement on the world-wide loss of farm livestock which is full of hopeful significance to Canadian farmers.

Mr. Polakoff is a member of the executive committee of the International Institute of Agriculture, whose headquarters in Rome collects information which is the "last word" on farming conditions the world over.

His figures are brought down to a few months ago. He has grouped the European countries as one unit and the newer countries of the world as another. In the latter are included Canada, United States, Argentina, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Tunis (the North African island which is making surprising advances).

In all classes of animals the percentage figures show decreases when compared with pre-war totals. In cattle and sheep the drop is 12 per cent, each, with a further drop of 36 per cent. In Great Britain, which remains Canada's best market, there is a decrease in average 4,600, and in sheep 4,600 head (a decrease equal to one and one-half times the entire number in Canada, and in sheep 4,600 head).

Only one European country shows an all-round increase. That is Spain, where the figure in twine totalled 1,200,000 head for the year 1919, an increase of 1,108,000 in Spain, Denmark, which is our chief competitor in the bacon market, had a decrease of 1,488,000 head for the year 1919, while Germany's drop in logs was by the enormous total of 11,389,000.

It is true that, throughout the world, there is a net increase of 4 per cent. in cattle, but there is a world-wide drop in sheep and swine of 12 per cent. and 9½ per cent, respectively.

Mr. Polakoff's contribution, interesting as it is, does not, however, indicate that there is no sign whatever of a lessened demand in the chief consuming countries for the meats which Canada is so well fitted to supply.

Cannot Dismiss With Sure Shield

Not Safe For Britain to Surrender Naval Power.

Do we need a fleet? That question may be answered by asking if there are any indications that the Millennium is dawning? We fear that the state of Europe, to look no farther than the situation in Germany, is a complete confidence in the rule of reason and justice as to encourage us to dispense with our "sure shield." No one can forecast the course of events for a year, or even a month, and it takes six or seven years to train a young man for the course of events at least half that time to build a battleship or a cruiser. Naval power cannot be created in a hurry, and once it is created it can only be maintained. Decay of strength by sea was the precursor to the decline of the great maritime empires of the past—London Daily Telegraph.

The Eight-Hour Day

Edison Glad He Was Not Invented When He Was Young.

Today I am wondering what would have happened if I had not been invented when I was a young man. If my life had been made up of eight-hour days I don't believe I could have accomplished a great deal. The country would not amount to as much as it does if a young man of 50 years ago had been afraid they might earn more than they were worth. They were thinkers in those days, to be sure, but they didn't boast of it. The shirkers tried to conceal or excuse his shirkers as a matter of course of ambition—Thomas A. Edison.

B.C. Elk For London Zoo

Three British Columbia elk—a five-year-old bull and two-year-old cows—have been shipped by express from Vancouver to St. John, N.B., for the London Zoo.

These elk are destined for the Zoological Gardens in London. This is the first shipment of elk ever made out of this province to England.

Porcupines Good Fighters

Hunting Them Is Not a Sport To Be Desired.

"On the farm which I was managing in British East Africa there were great numbers of porcupines," says a recently returned traveller.

"They used to have their homes in the rocks under the escarpment, and at night would come down to the cultivated plots and do a great deal of damage. They were particularly fond of potatoes, and would root out a whole row of them, moving from plant to plant and undermining each separate one. As soon as we noticed this, we had begun their destruction on any particular plot my brother and I would organize a porcupine hunt."

"One had to be pretty quick in one's movements for porcupines have a nasty way of charging backward and transfixing with their quills any flesh, human or canine, that happens to be in the way. I have known very bad wounds inflicted like this, the quills going through a man's leg as easily as a sharp needle."

Sunflowers Increase Dairy Profits

Reports Indicate That New Fodder It Described a Standard Crop.

Now that winter feeding of stock is finished, reports on the results of sunflower food are coming in from various sources, and all tend to indicate that this new fodder is destined to become a standard crop in the prairie provinces of Canada.

A typical example of what this silage means to the dairy farmer is given by Bert Hiltz, of Lethbridge, Alberta. In December, January and February, 1919, his cows produced milk to the value of $128.93. Last year, Mr. Hiltz planted five acres to sunflowers and from the same number of cows he got milk that brought him $1,684.04, an increase of $151.11. His silo cost less than $500. Previously he needed all his quarter section to carry feed to his herd, but his sunflower yield was so large that he has been able to spare fifty tons of alfalfa, worth about $700, for the market. Mr. Hiltz says that the cost of his silo has been a net cash surplus of more than $700. Adding in the value of the silage, he has found that the sunflower fodder has meant more than $1,200 increased revenue to him.

Germany Not Paying

Would Be Better to Commence More Definite Sequestration Process.

It will soon be time for the allied negotiators to make known to the German government in the event of her continued refusal to pay the reparations bill. The present policy of occupation does nothing more than impress a few thousands of her population. Such revenue as may be exacted through an allied customs office will merely contribute to the cost of maintaining the troops on foreign soil. It is intended that the debtor nation shall discharge her obligations by a more definite sequestration of a little nearer Berlin. A march to the capital may not be practicable for many reasons, but the seizure of German ports with all the available shipping, and a few of the larger industrial plants would impress her a good deal more effectively than the present fridleness which appears to have sprung up between the people of Düsseldorf and the troops who are ordered there. The longer the delay the more difficult it will be to apply stern measures—Victoria Times.

N.S. Apple Crop Profitable

Nova Scotia growers and shippers now realize that they have received more money for the 1920 apple crop than they ever got before in a single year. The potato growers of the province, however, are disappointed. They planned to find that the United Fruit Companies average price on potatoes, up until January 1st, 1920, was $3.75 per barrel.

Restoring Plant For Milk

A large, picturesque plant, the property of the milk vendors of Regina, Sask., will be erected and brought into operation in Regina this summer.

Admiral Sir Percy Scott, Commander of the aerial defense of London is the world's best authority on battleships. He believes the British navy would be better off if it spent the $40,000,000 now being expended on battleships on the construction in research and providing new weapons of warfare.

"The late war," Sir Percy said, "showed that the only safe policy in regards battleships was to stow them away as far as possible from the enemy. If we do not fear our battleships will be safe unless we construct a harbor to contain them in Ireland."

"Personally," continued Sir Percy, "in a newspaper interview, 'I am fully in accord with Rear-Admiral Adair when he said that we ought not to spend our money on battleships, but whatever money we may have to spend should be laid out on research work. Rear-Admiral Adair told the House of Commons that if we built new battleships we should also have to provide new bases at great cost at Halifax, Bermuda, Jamaica, on the west coast of Canada, in New Guinea, and at Singapore. I say this nation, which is now spending $40,000,000 in the pound, cannot afford this huge expenditure, when nobody can tell me what we are going to do with these battleships when we get them."

"In the first few hours of the great war, Plymouth, Dover and even London may be reduced to ashes unless we are provided with an adequate counter to the fleets of airplanes that would attack us. It seems to me, therefore, that we should spend, not only on the navy, but on battleships that are no good as the midshipman said, but on the provision of the very best we can buy of the new weapons which will count in the war of the future."

Speaking of the latest developments of death-dealing instruments, Sir Percy explained the principles of the new Davis gun, which fires from both ends and with which, he said, all American airplanes would be armed. It would be possible to fire an airplane to carry a 12-inch gun and fire at battleships from 10,000 feet up. Battleships could have no protection against such weapons.

Speaking of the progress that had been made in planning aerial attacks Sir Percy said that he had been in an interview in the Evening Standard: "It is no secret now—every man in the service knows it—that the war has lasted another longer, longer, longer, would probably, by means of an aerial attack, have sunk all the German ships in the Kiel Canal."

Color For Health

Go In For Colors If You Want To Be Well.

"Clothes make the man" is a saying which has been repeated for centuries. Who has not been conscious of an uplift in spirits when a new and well-fitting suit has been donned? "Going in for colors" is another thing, however. It is a matter of the three jolliest and—apparently—healthiest, and then, when next you see those three, notice their apparel. For a certainty it won't be sombre or dark. As likely as not you might judge it to be the other way. Their spirits would depart. So would your health, for that rises or falls exactly with your spirits. "Merrie England" came to an end—this is an historical fact. The old saying of the "Puritan" clothing came in. So, if you wish to be in good health and high spirits, go in for colors and cheerfulness. It is a matter of the three jolliest and—apparently—healthiest, and then, when next you see those three, notice their apparel. For a certainty it won't be sombre or dark. Red Cross Campaign

Organization Well Underway For Big Effort In Saskatchewan.

With organizations well underway in the northern part of the province and active preparations being made for the southern half, indications are that Saskatchewan will give a good account of itself during the Red Cross Membership Enrollment week, June 5 to 11.

Full direction and complete authority to carry out plans has been vested by the Provincial Executive of the Red Cross Society in a Special Membership Enrollment Committee consisting of Commissioner W. F. Kerr, Regina, chairman; D. H. McDonald, Fort Qu'Appelle, first vice-president; F. C. Grant, Moose Jaw, manager of the Bank of Hamilton, and treasurer of the local branch; Col. Cross, M.L.A., Regina, and Col. Jas. McVern, Regina, president of the Provincial Command G.W.V.A. The active direction of the campaign is being placed in Commissioner Kerr's hands, while W. F. Marshall, of Saskatoon, is responsible for the north.

The rural municipality is being made the unit of organization in the country districts. It is proposed to place an organizer has been in the field in the northern part of the province arranging for the appointment of chairman and secretary for each of the campaign committees in the several rural municipalities and already committees have been set up for forty municipalities. It is proposed to place two or three more organizers in the field in the north.

In addition to organizing the rural branches, active support is being asked for and very largely obtained from former Victory Loan workers as well as reserve, secretaries and councillors of rural municipalities. Saskatchewan enrolled over 10,000 life members of the Red Cross during the war and personal letters are being sent out to each soliciting their assistance.

Pre-campaign literature is being extensively used. A small four-page folder giving preliminary announcement of the enrollment campaign has been issued. Another four-page leaflet has been prepared setting forth the relations existing between the Red Cross and the returned soldiers in Saskatchewan, a supply of which will be forwarded to each one of the 170 branches of the G.W.V.A. in the province.

Commissioner Kerr has addressed the annual conventions of the G.W.V.A., the School Teachers' Registered Nurses' Association in the last two months, all of whom unanimously endorsed the peace time program of the Red Cross, and pledged their support.

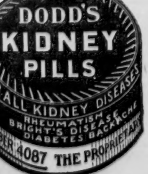

The objective in Saskatchewan is the enrollment of every adult at the annual fee of one dollar and all boys and girls at junior members at 25 cents. The entire proceeds of the campaign among the junior members will be applied to the relief of crippled children whose parents are unable to afford remedial measures.

Britain's Growing Trade

Was Best Customer In 1920 With France Second.

Great Britain had a surplus of £200,000,000 as between income and margin for the fiscal year just ended. Out of this she was able to reduce her floating debt by £41,682,000 and to apply the remainder on capital account. This excellent financial result has been accompanied by a most gratifying growth in trade. Exports in 1920 increased by £240,000,000, and showed gains in 85 out of 96 markets exclusive of overseas colonies. India was her best customer, with France next, and the United States third. Trade with India was doubled during the year. These facts give the best assurance of Britain's strong place in the commercial world, and of her power to rehabilitate herself after the severe trials of the war.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

CAN THE DEAF BE MADE TO HEAR?

This question can be answered both ways. If the deafness is due to Catarrh, success is general. If the sufferer persists in the use of Catarrh, success is general. If the sufferer persists in the use of Catarrh, success is general. If the sufferer persists in the use of Catarrh, success is general.

Wheat is the Standby

The Grain That Holds a Permanent Place in the West.

While wheat production in the prairie provinces reach its maximum in the near future or will the acreage be extended to an extent of five to six million bushels crop. Possibly something on this question may be learned from the experience of Minnesota. It does not appear that the yield per acre is any less than it was in the early years after breaking, yet it has been found that the introduction of the crops and introduce more livestock. Prof. Ross, of the Minnesota College of Agriculture, considers that it is still a good plan to retain wheat as a cash crop, since it is so well adapted to the soil and climate. At the present time he is of the opinion that the outlook for wheat prices is more favorable than for most of the other grains. Wheat will continue to be the mainstay of the prairie provinces regardless of what advice may be tendered on mixed farming. It is also certain that other crops and livestock will in the future find a place more important than they do now in what may be called the pioneer stage.—Montreal Family Herald.

Canada's Coal Reserves

Has Seventeen Per Cent of the World's Total Supply.

The total coal "reserve" of the United States, by which is meant the quantity remaining, underground within American territorial limits, is forty times as great as that of Great Britain, formerly the world's biggest coal exporter, and, in fact, a little more than one-half of the total "reserve" of the world. Expert estimates of the world's stock of coal, presented at a recent geological congress held in Canada, put the world's total "reserve" at 7,396,000,000,000 tons, and that of the United States at 1,234,000,000,000 tons, or 17 per cent of the world's total. Canada ranks next to the United States with 1,234,000,000,000 tons, or 17 per cent of the world's total. China has 996,000,000,000 tons, or 14 per cent of the world's total stock while the reserve was stated at just 190,000,000,000 tons, or less than 3 per cent of the world's total.—Western Coal Review Winnipeg.

Wants Real Re-Adjustment

Reductions All Round Are Needed As A Stimulus to Business.

"Every store, every firm, and every industry in British Columbia should be put on the operating table; ascertain the basis upon which business can be resumed (and there always is a price at which trade will respond, no matter how bad conditions are), then lay your program in detail before the public and before your employees. If reductions are necessary in order to carry on, reduce. Losses incurred during suspension of business and stagnation of business greatly exceed reductions necessary to keep business going. "Business conditions are stagnated only on account of the loss of public confidence. Inquiry as to the price at which a house could be built, made to responsible sources, brings the answer that every material entering into construction is priced at double its real value, and the labor is exorbitant in its demands and deficient in its performance. How long is this madness going to continue?—Vancouver Sun.

Agricultural Instruction In Manitoba

Large Grant Devoted to Instruction In Agriculture.

An especially interesting feature of the grant to the province of Manitoba made under the Dominion Agricultural Instruction Act which amounted, according to the report on the workings of the act for 1919-20, to $7,113, is the allotment of $200,000 to extension schools, of $10,000 to aid in the teaching of home economics, and a like amount to the encouragement and development of boys' and girls' clubs. Thus, nearly two-thirds of the grant is devoted directly to instruction in agriculture for the youth of both sexes. Twenty thousand dollars went towards meeting the expense of a well-established and thorough going agricultural representative system. The balance of $11,000 helps towards dairy work, beekeeping, cost of the Kilburne demonstration farm, and to soil analysis and survey. How well home economics has been encouraged is proved by the fact that the women's institutes, which held during the year five-day courses to the number of 390 in home economics, including dressmaking and sewing, increased in number and membership, in 1919, from 17 and 750 in 1914 to 120 and 4,600 in 1919. Under an arrangement that exists between the provincial department of agriculture and education, whereby boys' and girls' clubs and school farms are carried on co-operatively, in 1919, 220 central clubs and 1,200 branch clubs had sprung into being with a membership of 26,500. At the school farms, held practically by all the clubs, entries were made of 827 pigs, 571 calves, 356 sheep, 255 colts, 4,433 chickens, 9,752 specimens of cookery, 9,433 of vegetables, 5,000 samples of animal food, 1,000 dairy products, 1,600 of wood-working, and 2,250 of record keeping work. In all, there were about 28,000 exhibits of actual school work. Of the nearly 30,000 club members, it is well worth noting, that fewer than 2,000 failed to carry their projects through to make exhibits.

Among the instructions which a mistress had given her new maid from the country was not to bring in a glass of milk each evening at 7 o'clock. The first evening Jane brought in the glass clapped lightly in her hand.

"Does that again, it's bad etiquette," said the mistress. "Always bring it in on a tray." Next evening Jane appeared with a tray full of milk in her hand. "Excuse me, ma'am," said the maid. "Do you want a spoon, or will you lap it up?"

Money in Hog Raising

Broad Sows Nearly As Valuable As Good Shortorns.

There is a pronounced rebound in favor of hogs throughout Ontario and Eastern Canada. The short, sighted policy of many farmers last fall in selling their broad sows is bringing its natural reward in a disappointment to those now unable to take advantage of an exceptional demand for breeding stock. Broad sows are today reported to be scarce in some districts, to within $5.00 of good grade shortorns. The following items are contained in the last reports on farm conditions sent by the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

"Brant (county) says that good Shorthorn grade sows at an all-day sale brought only about $95.00 while broad sows fetched around $90.00. Broad sows are unusually scarce on this market this spring and run from $120.00 to $160.00 a pair, according to age."

"Broad sows are in good demand at auction sales according to Kent, Simcoe and Peel representatives, the last of these reports ranging from $75.00 to $125.00."

"When the sacrifice of sows was at its height last fall, parkers, realizing the inevitable effect, issued reiterated warnings to farmers. Because of the information then issued the worst in a sweep to the abattoirs was realized. Many farmers must now realize how valuable that information was to them. This quick rebound in hogs comes on the heels of the business of those closest to the livestock industry that is in the 'in-and-out,' especially in hog breeding, is his own worst enemy."

Registration of Grimm Alfalfa

Seed Grown by Western Canada Farmers Can Now Be Obtained.

The first registration of Grimm alfalfa seed grown in Canada has been made by Don H. Bark, of the Irrigation Investigation Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Brooks, Alberta.

Mr. Bark has been advised by Mr. L. H. Newman, secretary of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, that the first registration of six different farmers near Brooks is being registered and that it is sending them certificates of registration. The fields of these growers were inspected last year and the seed offered for registration as Grimm. As a result of the registration, farmers will now be able to have registered seed grown from this stock. This marks a tremendous stride forward for the Brooks district. Seed growers and distributors have been clamoring for this seed for years, and will now be able to procure the pure Grimm-alfalfa seed in Alberta.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for babies. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Farmers Are Optimistic

Prospects Generally for a Favorable Crop Season Are Good.

The optimistic last fall enabled farmers to do more work than usual on their land, and much is ready for seeding. What the total crop area will be is hard to say at present. It is generally believed that it will be larger than last year—in fact as large as when the area in crop in Alberta was nearly eight million acres, in Saskatchewan nearly seventeen million acres, and in Manitoba somewhat more than six million acres.

There are, however, several districts where a considerably larger area will be put into crop as compared with last year. For example, the principal reason why coins are struck and not cast is that molten metals contract on cooling. Thus counterfeit coins, which are always cast, show flat variations in size, which authentic stamped coins do not.

Suitable Crops for the Silo

The following article was contributed by Prof. G. H. Carter, head of the Department of Field Husbandry, University of Alberta.

In anticipation of an increasingly wider use of the silo in Alberta a series of experiments were inaugurated in the season of 1918 by the Department of Field Husbandry of the University of Alberta, which were calculated to throw light on questions confronting the man who is desirous of making use of the silo. One important phase of these investigations is the suitability of crops for ensilage purposes. This question involves several considerations as follows:

- (1) Productiveness.
- (2) Palatability to stock when dried into ensilage.

Crops were grown and ensiled in oil barrels and palatability, chemical and other tests were made, that the greatest amount of reliable information might be obtained.

A large number of crops have been included in these experiments, but our investigations permit only of discussion at this time of the following:

- (1) Corn—North Western Dent.
- (2) Corn—Mammoth Western (seeds just developing).
- (3) Equal parts of the foregoing.
- (4) Oats in the dough stage.
- (5) Buckwheat with seeds well developed.

All of these crops were slightly frost-killed once. Feed tests were conducted with dairy cattle that had been accustomed to peas and oats ensilage. In this brief discussion only a few conclusions can be given as follows:

When the dairy herd of 10 cows had received their regular evening ration of 15 or 20 lbs. each of peas and oats silage, an additional 8 to 10 lbs. each of experimental silage was placed alongside in the manger.

The animals showed no marked preference between the peas and oats silage from the farm silo, and the corn silage from the barrel. Though all switched to the corn at first, all but two returned shortly to their regular feed, and later cleaned up both impartially.

All animals preferred their regular feed to the sunflower silage. After sniffing at it they left it to be eaten last. Some did not finish it at once, and a few refused altogether the coarser pieces of stalk, which had to be cleaned out in the morning. It should be noted, however, that this herd had never previously been fed sunflower silage, so that usage may have been a factor.

The corn and sunflowers mixed appeared about midway between the previous two in point of palatability. The oat silage was cleaned up with the greatest avidity by all animals before they returned to their regular feed.

The buckwheat silage was just a little more relished than sunflowers, but inferior to the others. It was left to be eaten last, but finished without waste by all stock.

Deductions
These crops, including the buckwheat crop possess a value for ensilage purposes.

Quite as good silage can be made in all barrels as in large silos—fermentation being quite as satisfactory. This seems to point to the possibility of farmers and others modifying the silo to suit their particular needs. It suggests the possibility of the use of a variety of types of silos, even to a number of small ones. The pit, bank and trench silos are all possibilities where conditions warrant.

It has proved hard to get farm help this Spring. While there are a few men about, experienced horsemen are scarce. A number of the farmers in this district are still without the necessary men to enable them to get their crop in time

We notice the town well was thoroughly pumped and cleaned out by Mr. Owens

George Brown returned with Mr. Madill to assist him putting in his crop

Arrangements have been made with a lady to come to Burdett at frequent intervals to teach the young people the piano. As there are a large number of homes with instruments in them it is hoped she will be well supported. We hope to be able to give full details of the days and times she will be here in next issue

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Stevenson have moved to the Strand House next the Pioneer Lumber Co. premises

Burdett News

From our own Correspondent

This town has seen very few farmers this last week as they are all busy on their lands. The few who have been in report the conditions good for seeding with plenty of moisture; they hope Hatfield will start operations so that rain will fall as soon as seeding is done

John Donaldson, our progressive Farmer was a business visitor to Bow Island last Thursday

It is unfortunate that your correspondent should have described the two Mormon speakers on Sunday as such great speakers. The gentlemen in question were just two ordinary men who are according to their lights doing their duty and they feel embarrassed when written of as such glowing terms as were used last week. They had a good congregation and their addresses were very much appreciated

Ross Strong reports business rushing in Cultivators of which he is unable to obtain sufficient to meet demand

E. M. Johnston still has a few boxes of "Shur-Shot" left.

A Guaranteed cure for Rats and Worms in horses

Mr. and Mrs. Madill were visitors on Monday when they motored in with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor with their two boys. This family we regret to see leave the district; they are returning to Ontario to reside. One does not like to see these old Canadian families who have come settled in the West leave it. It is not good advertising

Miss Annie Walker who has been ill for some time is we are glad to hear well on the way to recovery. She expects to return to the Post Office in the near future

Mr. Sandy put on a dance in the Theatre last Friday. Owing to other attractions in the district and to the fact that farmers are all busy there was only a small attendance. Supper was well served at the White Lunch

Constable Bradner was a business visitor last Monday. We are always glad to see Joe in his grey car, more particularly when he reports all clear as far as Burdett is concerned

Carl Lindwall was a business visitor to Tulsa on Wednesday

Hop Woe has shown a good example to the people of Burdett. He has fitted up his store in good shape and has made it look well with a coat of paint on the outside

The Streets have been fixed in the middle of the town and are now quite passable good cinder crossings have been put in, so now when Hatfield produces his deluge of rain we will still be able to move round

Three returned men, Rex and Don Colman and Frank Kertray, were in town recently making final preparations to start for their lands North of Red Deer River. They were held up waiting for the ferry to be put in commission

Mr. and Mrs. How from Grassy Lake were visitors to Burdett on Sunday

The members of the Burdett G.W. V.A. Club are quite interested in the reports that appear from time to time of the expert Chequer players who reside South of town. While up to the present they have said nothing they are quietly watching and at the least sign of a challenge will be able to take it up. A joint meeting of Burdett and their former friends would make a nice evening's entertainment

E. M. Johnston reports a good trade in Formaldelyde at these days. It is the price as well as quality that tells the tale

Now the fine evenings are with us once more it is hoped the Boy Scout movement will progress. We have a fine bunch here and with a few recruits will have as good a troop as anywhere in these parts. Parents whose boys are of the right age should give their youngsters every chance to join as nothing but good can result
